

Electrocardiogram Manufacturer

AI Overview

Leading ECG manufacturers include GE HealthCare, Philips, Schiller AG, Nihon Kohden, BPL Medical Technologies, Norav Medical, and Meditech Group. Major Global ECG Manufacturers

GE HealthCare: Offers advanced ECG analysis programs and diagnostic systems that enhance clinicians' confidence and workflow efficiency in cardiac care.

Philips: Provides a wide range of cardiology solutions, including diagnostic electrocardiographs, Holter monitoring, and stress testing systems, with integrated ECG management software.

Schiller AG: Specializes in medical IT and cardiac monitoring devices, including ECG machines, blood pressure monitors, and spirometers.

Nihon Kohden Corporation: Produces ECGs, EEGs, EMG systems, patient monitors, and clinical information systems, with a global presence in over 120 countries.

BPL Medical Technologies Private Limited: Offers a broad range of ECG devices and patient monitoring equipment, widely used in clinics and hospitals in India and internationally.

Norav Medical: Focuses on innovative ECG solutions, including resting, stress, Holter, and telemetry systems, as well as mobile ECG devices compatible with Android, iOS, and Windows platforms.

Meditech Group: Manufactures ECG machines and Holter monitors, including devices with touch screens, digital signal processing, and PC-based analysis software for continuous ECG recording.

Types of ECG Devices

Resting ECG: Standard 12-lead ECG performed while the patient is at rest, used for routine cardiac assessment.

Stress ECG: Measures heart activity during exercise, often integrated with treadmills or ergometers.

Holter Monitors: Portable devices for continuous ECG recording over 24–72 hours, useful for detecting intermittent arrhythmias.

Wireless and Mobile ECG Systems: Enable remote monitoring, real-time data transmission, and integration with mobile devices for telemedicine applications.

Key Features

Modern ECG devices often include automatic interpretation algorithms, multi-lead recording, high-resolution touch screens, data...
