

Price of Optical Cable Hanging Brackets

AI Overview

Optical cable hanging brackets typically range from $2 to $15 per piece, depending on material, size, and type. Overview Optical cable hanging brackets, also known as pole brackets, J-hooks, or aerial mounting brackets, are essential for securing fiber optic cables on poles, walls, or ceilings. They are made from durable materials such as galvanized steel, aluminum alloy, stainless steel, or UV-resistant thermoplastics, designed to withstand environmental stress like wind, ice, and temperature fluctuations. These brackets ensure proper cable clearance, prevent sagging, and protect signal integrity. Price Range Plastic or thermoplastic brackets: $2-$5 per piece, suitable for light-duty indoor or short-span installations. Aluminum alloy or steel brackets: $5-$10 per piece, commonly used for outdoor aerial installations and pole mounting. Heavy-duty or specialized brackets: $10-$15 per piece, designed for high-load or industrial applications, including ADSS or drop cable installations. Prices may vary depending on supplier, quantity, and customization. Bulk orders or OEM configurations can reduce per-unit costs. Applications Telecommunications and FTTH networks: Secure fiber optic cables along poles or walls. Data centers and commercial buildings: Organize and route cables neatly using J-hooks or D-rings. Industrial facilities: Support large-scale or rugged installations with heavy-duty brackets. Purchasing Tips Verify material compatibility with your installation environment (UV exposure, moisture, temperature). Check load capacity to ensure the bracket can support the cable bundle. Consider mounting hardware kits that include screws, clamps, or hooks for easier installation. For exact pricing, suppliers like LanShack, JERA Line, and MefiberOptic offer catalogs and quotes based on your specific requirements.
